Mayor's Welcome Message

Welcome to Pine Mountain Georgia. We hope you love our small town as much as we do.

In addition to our wonderful downtown area with its local shops, artists, restaurants, and businesses, we have year round fun at FDR State Park, the largest state park in Georgia. Plus, make sure you and your family experience the always stunning Callaway Resort & Gardens for events all year long, adventurous activities such as ziplining and biking, live birds of prey shows, and two of the best golf courses in the state!

Pine Mountain is also home to some of the best BBQ and Southern cooking—and the most welcoming people—in Georgia.

Mayor, Pine Mountain, Mary Mullins

The Chipley Historical Center

The Historical Center is located in Pine Mountain's original City Hall. The building was saved from deterioration in 1985 with a complete restoration. Even the two original jail cells are on display. The building is on the National Register of Historic Places.

The Chipley Historical Center was established in 1985. It archives genealogical and historical artifacts of Pine Mountain and surrounding west central Georgia area. The Center is housed in the town's original City Hall, which was built in the 1880s when Pine Mountain was named Chipley. (The town's name was changed from Chipley to Pine Mountain in 1958.)

Visitors to the Historical Center will find a permanent collection of the artifacts dating back to when the town was chartered in 1880. There are rotating historical exhibits and special programs all curated by the Center's experts.

Researchers visiting the Center have access to a microfilm reader-printer, Harris County census records from 1820 to 1910, early county newspapers, cemetery and church documents, early official town documents, and private collections. Center's experts can help visitors and researchers.

Pine Mountain – Man O' War Trail

A 13.4-mile trail bisecting much of Harris County, the Man O' War Trail follows the path of the retired diesel train with the same name. Established by the Central of Georgia Railway in 1947, the Man O' War spanned from Columbus to Atlanta and stopped daily in Pine Mountain for over 20 years. The tracks remained in use after the Man O' War was retired, mainly for carrying freight, and were traversed frequently until being fully decommissioned in 2007.

The magnificent footprint of that railway now serves as the foundation for a seminal trail system connecting Pine Mountain and Hamilton and beyond. Over 13 miles of asphalt path greets guests and provides a safe and fun way to explore the beauty of Harris County. Cyclists, runners, dog walkers and more are all welcome to enjoy the 10-ft wide path spanning our county. While motorized vehicles are not allowed, there is ample parking for them at either end of the trail, or at a number of drop-in points along its length.

Runners and cyclists looking to explore the trail and track their times are invited to do so on the following forums. Compare yourself to the fastest to tackle the trail!
